Minha Casa, Nossa Cidade ! Marc Angélil, Rainer Hehl, 2014 In 2009, Brazil launched the mass housing program Minha Casa, Minha Vida (My House, My Life), which aims to build 3.4 million housing units by the end of 2014. By reexamining the program at a critical time, Minha Casa-Nossa Cidade (My House, Our City) attempts to hack the production of mass housing and tackle the profound social changes currently underway in Brazil. In three chapters, the book reviews the history and implementation of the government program, highlights the ingenuity of Popular Brazilian Architecture, and presents design proposals by MAS Urban Design for low-cost housing. Building on the program's success in broadening access to housing, Minha Casa-Nossa Cidade puts forth a vision for the city as a common project and the transformation of monotonous urban areas into popular neighborhoods-living environments that can be appropriated according to individual as well as collective needs.

Dialogue and Learning in Mathematics Education Helle Alrø,Ole Skovsmose,2006-04-11 Dialogue and Learning in Mathematics Education is concerned with communication in mathematics class-rooms. In a series of empirical studies of project work, we follow students' inquiry cooperation as well as students' obstructions to inquiry cooperation. Both are considered important for a theory of learning mathematics. Special attention is paid to the notions of 'dialogue' and 'critique'. A central idea is that 'dialogue' supports 'critical learning of mathematics'. The link between dialogue and critique is developed further by including the notions of 'intention' and 'reflection'. Thus a theory of learning mathematics is developed which is resonant with critical mathematics education.

Recent Advances in Pediatrics (Volume 20: Hot Topics) Suraj Gupte,2011-06 This is the 20th Annual volume of the noted international series, Recent Advances in Pediatrics. The series has the distinction of uninterrupted appearance ever since 1990-91 when the it was launched . To date, over and above the 20 Annual volumes, the series has to its credit 21 special volumes on various subspecialties in pediatrics. The present volume aims at covering the currently outstanding hot topics in pediatrics of special relevance to resource-limited countries. The approach is multidisciplinary with an eye on future. The 33 peer-reviewed, evidence-based and state-of-the-art chapters contributed by as many as 46 experts drawn from India and other countries provide depth and breadth of the expanding knowledge in the field of contemporary pediatrics. Also incorporated along with the recent and current advances is the time-honored art of pediatric practice as and when applicable. The treatise presents threadbare discussions on a plethora of hot topics ranging from nanomedicine, community care of the newborn, respiratory distress syndrome and neonatal cholestasis, through non-Hodkin lymphoma, and febrile and transient neutropenia, to pediatric emergencies and blood component therapy. Overviews on two offbeat topics, “Epigenetics” and “Translational Medicine and Research” provide a refreshing flavor of the advances that are set to make strides in the near future. Each and every chapter is remarkable by its excellence, providing a stimulating and, not infrequently, even provocative, mature and informal update. Today, such an approach is considered the backbone for information, motivation of discussion, interaction, research and innovation.
